

FRIDAY 28TH OCTOBER

Friday Night Walk: Tom Crean Trail. 7.30pm, Free.
Enjoy our night walk on the quiet rural Pound road with night views of the village and beautiful countryside. We will visit the final resting place of Tom Crean at Ballinacourty Graveyard
Easy/Moderate 2hrs, 5kms

SATURDAY 29TH OCTOBER

A Walk: Caherconree, Start 9am
Caherconree is a majestic promontory fort which once was the summer residence of the King of Munster Cú Rí. The walk follows the marked route past the fort to the summit at 835m affording 360 degree views north to the Shannon estuary and west to the Blaskets.
The return route is through the fort descending the steep green shoulder back to our start point.
Walk rating: Difficult 5 hours

B Walk : Acres Hill, Start 10 am
Acres Hill is one of 3 modest peaks forming the Doorah Range which stands on the edge of Dingle Bay. Acres Hill has a fragrant and rich vegetative cover and is climbed by following the sheep paths. The whole south coast of the peninsula provide the dramatic visible backdrop to this walk.
Walk rating: Moderate 3 hours

C Walk : Foot of the Hill Walk, 10.30 am
This loop walk begins in the village and crosses the parish's first bridge at Sean droichead descending to the deep brooding corrie Lake at Comdubh. The walk passes the birthplace of the sculptor Jerome O Connor and the resting place of the explorer Tom Crean.
Walk rating : Easy 11km, 3 hours

SUNDAY 30TH OCTOBER

A Walk: Mount Brandon, 9am
Mount Brandon is Kerry's holy mountain and at 3,000 feet is a must climb. The summit enjoys all four seasons in one day and offers jaw dropping views of the western edges of Ireland. The walk will start from Faha and finish at An Baile Breac.
Walk rating: Strenuous 11km, 5 hours.

B Walk: Walk Macha na Bó, 10am
Macha na Bó or "The pass of cows" is an age old route linking Cloghane to Annascaul. The walk is a social history of farming life in the area with ancient homestead and field system, bog cutting and wolf slaying.
Walk rating: Moderate 12 km, 5 hours.

C Walk : The Hidden Valley 10.30 am
This is an archeology walk tracing 4000 years of settlement from the Bronze Age cairn at Dro-mavally, through the Christian Ogham stones at Rathduff through to 21st century farm life.
Walk rating: Easy 2½ hours, 7km
